Introduction, Rationale & Catalog Description of the Course:

This is an introductory course designed to enrich student's appreciation of the vocabulary, media, techniques, and purposes of the visual arts and the creative process. Students will critically interpret and evaluate works of art within formal, cultural, and historical contexts.

Instructional Learning Materials & Methods of Teaching:

This course materials (such as PowerPoint presentations, Audio & Video files, Reading, websites, and reading materials which will be provided weekly for students to read, research, and complete the tasks) is based on Open Resources Education (ORE) as an alternative to rigid textbooks and they are aligned with UNT Dallas catalog objectives of Art 1300 course. The following are reading sources:

- I. Art Appreciation \(Open E-Book\) Acquired from:
<https://untdallas.instructure.com/courses/21108/files/7362066?wrap=1>
 - II. "How to Look at and Understand Great Art"; is supplementary online videos for these course modules. Click on the link to get access: <https://www.kanopy.com/en/untdallas/video/525722> Use your UNT Dallas library card or login credentials.
- Activities such as (assignments, museum visits, exams, & quizzes) should be expected as you progress in the course to ensure and measure attaining the objectives and the learning outcomes.

- Canvas Learning Management System: is supportive platform for this course materials and activities assigned and observed by the instructor. It contains a course navigation bar and a home page where you will find Modules and Resources. It is essential to have Canvas access:
 - Browser and Computer Requirements for Canvas: <https://community.canvaslms.com/t5/Canvas-Basics-Guide/What-are-the-browser-and-computer-requirements-for-Instructure/ta-p/66>
 - Access Canvas via untdallas.instructure.com Username: your EUID #. Password: your password

General policies this (Course, Classroom, and Institution)

Day One: is the day this course is open to students. On that first day of class, you must be able to access your Canvas for this course. You will find a Welcome page and Getting Started Here. On Day One, you must read the syllabus and complete the syllabus acknowledgment quiz. On Day One, you must enter the Start Here familiarizing yourself with the course & navigate the content and start reading and watching the videos.

Communication:

- Your UNT Dallas email is the official communication. Students are required to use their school email to correspond with instructors and other UNT Dallas personnel “NON-UNT” emails will be disregarded.
- Emails to me will be answered within 24 hours Monday through Friday. Emails received on Saturday and Sunday may not be returned until the following Monday. Therefore, it is imperative that you not wait until the weekend to start the assignments. Please make every effort to email me before Saturday if you have questions. Email is the best way to get hold of me.
- ayman.alamoudi@untDallas.edu is my school email. Please include your student ID number, first and last name as you are enrolled in the course, and what course you are in (this course is ARTS1301.0071 Art Appreciation).
- If needed, I might leave written feedback or comments on your assignments in Canvas assignment section make sure you double-check on that frequently.
- Any announcements will be sent from the instructor via Canvas make sure you track notifications and announcements.

Attendance/ Drop / Withdrawal Policy:

- You must complete the syllabus acknowledgment on first week in Canvas. Failure to complete the syllabus acknowledgment quiz may result you being excluded from the class-roll edit for the registerer office and dropped from the class. Once you have submitted the syllabus acknowledgment, you are considered in attendance for the census. If you stop attending the course without withdrawing, you will still receive a grade, whether passing or failing.
- Regular and punctual class attendance is required at UNT Dallas as a key element for student success. Excessive absenteeism is defined as two consecutive weeks (4 class sessions) of instruction in a 16-week semester (or the equivalent in any shorter term). You also should receive an “Early Warnings” if you exhibit excessive absence will affect your total grade by -5%. “Final Warning” will be received if any unexcused absence after the early warring and that could result of falling the course.
- A student who foresees educational issues related to pregnancy, postpartum recovery, or other physical or mental health matters is strongly encouraged to notify the school as soon as possible. By doing so, the student and school personnel can collaborate and develop an appropriate plan for the continuation of the student's education. Pre-planning when possible also may help with particular challenges a student faces while pregnant when recovering from childbirth, or in response to a physical or mental health concern (e.g., missed classes, make-up work). The choice to inform the school of any health concern is voluntary. A student is not required to share this information with the school. A student may choose to consult a school counselor or the Office of Disability Services before deciding whether or not to disclose any health-related information.

- You may drop this class by completing the Drop Form. It is the student's responsibility to submit the required paperwork to the Office of Admissions and Records to drop this class. Additional information about dropping a class may be found in the school catalog. Failure to Drop or Withdraw by the deadlines means your name will remain on the class roll, which is activating a grade of 'F' at the end of the semester.
- Changes in your enrollment level and/or failing grades may require you to repay financial aid funds. Dropping or withdrawing from a course may have serious academic consequences. Under most circumstances, a maximum of 6 courses may be dropped throughout the entire undergraduate degree program. Before you drop or withdraw from this or any other course, ensure you understand the consequences and consult with your academic advisor. For more information see the Office of the Registrar. All students receiving Veterans Administration (VA) benefits must notify the Veteran's Certifying Official of any enrollment changes as soon as they are made. The Veterans Affairs benefit recipient needs to be aware that the VA may require repayment of all benefits received since the beginning of a semester for any course in which a "W" grade is received. Additional information regarding attendance requirements is available in the school catalog.

Course work & Tasks:

- All assignments, projects, and tests have a deadline - the specified week (will be posted on time as shown in the course Calendar & Canvas)
- Student will be graded Incomplete/Missed = 0 grade if the assignment closed for grading. (the assignment will be closed the weekend following the due date)
- Students are required to take all exams as scheduled. If the student must miss an exam or project due to illness or a family emergency, the student must contact the instructor IMMEDIATELY before the exam to let the instructor know of the impending absence.
- If a student misses a scheduled exam and the absence is deemed excused by the instructor, s/he may request a make-up exam which is given by appointment only and must be taken outside of the regularly scheduled class time and must be completed within one week of the original due date.
- You may have an extension for your assignments or exams approved by the instructor based on acceptable reasons (any approved extension assignments/tests must be completed within 48 hours. Students can request the exam to be taken 48 hours before the due date if they have already scheduled for day with acceptable reasons.

- Work that is handed in on time may be redone for a better grade.
- All Assignments, Projects, and tasks must be submitted via Canvas in the particular section. (NOT to be emailed in order to save and protect all your work from being lost)
- Students who are falling behind in their work or missed exams need to make an appointment to see me before problems become critical and too late to resolve.
- Students are required to complete Final exam that is fixed in the course calendar and details and you should not make travel reservations or other plans which would require them to request an early final, requests for early finals are granted only in extreme exceptional circumstances, and personal/family travel plans are not deemed as exceptional circumstances. Check (Academic Calendar) for the Final Exam schedule for 16-week courses
- Keeping up with the course progress is important so you don't fall behind. Read all Canvas announcements as they are posted, check UNT Dallas email and canvas announcements daily, and monitor your grades in Canvas and contact me if you have any concerns or questions. (an easy way to make sure you see all announcements is to have school emails sent to your phone or use the Canvas Students App)

Classroom Environment

- Cell phones: must be put in silent while in the classroom: UNT Dallas believes that the dynamics occurring in the classroom should primarily enhance the instruction process. The classroom is a learning laboratory, which must be free from interruption or interference. As a result, all electronic devices capable of generating noise such as cellular phones, pagers, palm pilots, beeper watches, etc., are considered a distraction to the learning process and will be turned off before entering the classroom. Such devices will also be kept out of sight and not accessed during the class period. The student will not interact with these devices at any time during classroom instruction. Any student who anticipates receiving a message during classroom instruction or expects to be contacted in a class by an outside source must coordinate with the Department or Division Secretary. The message will be delivered to the appropriate instructor who will arrange a mutually satisfactory response to the situation.
- Unauthorized Electronic Device: are not be permitted to be active during an examination. In such a situation you will be asked to leave the classroom and will be denied the opportunity to complete or re-take the examination. Due to the circumstance, the Instructor may question the validity of any portion of the examination completed before the violation and may elect not to grade the examination and the student will not receive credit for the examination and will not be permitted to make up the missed examination.

- Food and Beverages in Classrooms: (This policy is required verbatim in all lecture courses but should not be included in online courses.) UNT Dallas is proud of the appearance of the campus and its facilities. To assist in keeping facilities clean, no food of any type is allowed in any classroom, laboratory, library, planetarium, art gallery, or museum. Food is defined as any edible food EXCEPT gum and cough drops. If you must carry food with you to be consumed elsewhere, the food must be in a backpack or a closed bag and out of view. Beverages are allowed in all areas, classrooms included, except the planetarium, art gallery, museum, computer laboratories, and other specialized laboratories containing sensitive equipment. Students must exercise extreme care in bringing beverages into campus facilities as spills might damage carpets and other furnishings. All students are expected to properly dispose of all trash, drink containers, etc. brought into university facilities.
- Disruptive Classroom Behavior Policy: UNT Dallas seeks to promote a teaching and learning environment free from material and substantial classroom disruptions. Faculty members have the authority and responsibility to effectively manage their classroom environments. Instructors may determine the time and manner for student questions and expression of points of view in the instructional setting. Accordingly, instructors should establish, communicate and enforce reasonable rules of classroom behavior and decorum via the syllabus and classroom discussion. This policy is not intended to discourage appropriate classroom expression, discussion, or disagreement, but to promote respectful interactions. Disruptive behavior is prohibited. "Disruptive behavior" means conduct that materially or substantially interferes with or obstructs the teaching or learning process in the context of a classroom or educational setting. Disruptive behavior includes conduct that distracts or intimidates others in a manner that interferes with instructional activities, fails to adhere to an instructor's appropriate classroom rules or instructions, or interferes with the normal operation of the school. (The instructor will warn a student who fails to comply with this class policy one time. Upon the instructor's warning, the student will take immediate corrective action. In the event the student fails to comply with the Instructor's request, the student will be dismissed from class and at the Instructor's discretion, may be counted absent or have points deducted for work missed, if appropriate. A student who violates this policy a second time will be dismissed from class, counted absent, and have points deducted for work missed, if appropriate, and referred to the Assistant Dean of the Division)
- Bad Weather Policy: Classes may or may not be affected by campus closures due to inclement weather. Campus facilities will close, and operations will be suspended when adverse weather and/or safety hazards exist on the UNTD campus or if travel to the campus is deemed dangerous as the result of ice, sleet or snow. In the event of a campus closure, the Marketing and Communication Department will report closure information to all appropriate major media by 7 a.m. That department will also update the UNTD website, Facebook and Twitter with closing information as soon as it is possible. For more information, please refer to <http://www.untDallas.edu/police/resources/notifications>. Unless notified by your instructor via e-mail, online messaging, or online announcement, students should assume that assignments are due as scheduled.

Ethics & Academic Integrity: Students are expected to complete their original work, including but not limited to assigned work in class or at home, examinations, and research-based projects. It is academic dishonesty to use the ideas, data, or language of another without specific or proper acknowledgment. If you use the ideas of others, regardless of who those individuals are (experts in their field, websites, friends from class, etc.), you must provide proper citations. Cheating, plagiarizing, fabrication of information or citations, facilitating acts of dishonesty by others, having unauthorized possession of examinations, submitting work of another person or work previously used without informing the instructor, tampering with the academic work of other students, use of Artificial Intelligence by any means to complete your work (unless inquired before using AI tools and permitted), or any other form of dishonesty will be dealt with severely and the student will be subjected to disciplinary action under university regulations and serious consequences, including a grade of ZERO, course failure, or removal from a program. Consult the student handbook for more details.

Disability Service: it is the responsibility of the student to contact the UNT Dallas Disability Services Office to request accommodations. Information on how to process this request may be obtained from disability office. The instructor is committed to helping each student reach his/her academic potential and to providing every student with equal opportunity to participate in and engage with the course. In keeping with this commitment, an effort has been made to develop accessible learning materials that provide equal access. Please contact the instructor immediately if access to course materials is restricted due to a disability so the issue(s) can be resolved promptly.
